SCHOOL DIVISION PROPOSED

COLEMAN INCLUDED IN PROPOSED SCHOOL DIVISION FOR PASS AREA

The most important issue to arise at the regular school board meeting of last Wednesday night was the report that Coleman had been included in the area to be known as Crow's Nest Co-Terminus Area No. 5 (a), an enlarged school division. To clarify the matter, the Journal publishes the information as supplied to the school board by the provincial government, and the accompanying map. The government directive reads as follows:

For your information I am taking the liberty of enclosing here-with a copy of those portions of the recently submitted Interim Report of the findings and recommendations of the Co-Terminus Boundary Commission as they affect your particular area of the province, together with a map showing the boundaries of all ten co-terminous units provided in the said report. The government has accepted this report and proposes taking the necessary steps to erect each of the co-terminous areas shown upon the enclosed map on January 1, 1954.

Upon completion of the work of the Commission the provisions of the Municipal District Act and the School Act will prevail, and the appropriate minister will have the power to make minor adjustments to the boundaries as in the past, should that be deemed desirable or necessary.

Minister of Education. In the reorganization area 13 municipalities become nine co-terminous areas. Eight school divisions become nine co-terminous areas.

The Commission recommends that a school division be formed in I.D. No. 10 south of township No. 9 and that the Passburg area be included in this Division. The recommended school division is to be co-terminous with that portion of I.D. No. 10 south of township No. 9 and is to be known as Co-Terminus Area No. 5 (a). It is further recommended that the portion of I.D. No. 10, i.e. township 9 not included in the proposed co-terminous area No. 5 (a) be transferred to I.D. No. 27.

The Commission deemed it advisable to have one educational board within the whole geographic area of the Crow's Nest Pass. Better educational service would accrue if one board had jurisdiction over the whole area. It would permit more complete centralization, special services, to more people, at a saving in home economics; more specialized instruction. Furthermore, with a possible shift of population and change of assets due to the closing of some coal mines, the resources would be pooled to give a better type of over-all service to the total school population.

The area is concentrated and people have common interests. It is made up primarily of mining communities. Financially the I.D. No. 10 is sound. The total school assessment is adequate, amounting to about $8,500,000. Therefore the taxation base is good. Presently the mill rate is low throughout.

Further, from a school point of view, the following pertains.

	Pop.	Teachers
Frank	239	1
Blairmore	1933	15
Coleman	1961	22
I.D. No. 10	4830	19
Total	8963	57

Bellevue-Hillcrest
The whole of the Bellevue-Hillcrest S.D. and the Passburg S.D. are included in this proposed unit.

The attached map shows the boundaries as proposed.

School Board discussed the government report and felt that nothing could be done about it until more information is received. Numerous questions arose, the secretary instructed to obtain the answers from the department. The matter of budgeting for the new year poses somewhat of a problem until more facts are known. It was pointed out that if trustees are apportioned on a population basis, the I.D. would place twice as many as the towns. It is possible that with this the eastern section of the I.D. could place controlling votes by having the edge in trustees. To rectify this the board pointed out that the I.D. should be broken down geographically to provide fair and equal representation. It was also pointed out that a matter as large as this cannot be carried out in a short time and that the board would be well advised to carry on in their usual manner.

Regular Business
Handling routine business, the board accepted the minutes, financial statement and bus report. A report from the Board of Industrial Relations requested that a record of wages and hours of school employees be kept. It was moved that this be complied with.

The matter of teachers from England available to Canadian schools came up along with a questionnaire from the department. The Board felt that seeing English teachers had expressed the desire to teach only in the cities, and the fact that five local people will graduate as teachers this year, the teaching problem was easing and no additional supply would be needed.

The principal's report showed a total enrolment of 640 with an average attendance of 98.41%.

The janitor informed the board that two rooms and the auditorium need to be insulated due to the problem of heating. This matter will be considered on next year's budget.

Cars Permanently Parked On Streets Will Be Investigated by Council

The problem of cars being parked on streets and left for weeks and months at a time to the inconvenience of others, will be investigated by the town police as the result of last Tuesday's council meeting. It was brought before council that evidences of this was increasing and posed an inconvenience to property owners and impediment in snow removal.

The mayor and all councillors attended the latest sitting of the council and ran through a considerable amount of routine business. Councillor Wavrean opened the meeting with information that Father Sullivan and Padre Moss were willing to serve on the Welfare Board, thus completing the membership.

Correspondence included a letter from Alois Krywyl asking the town's approval on his application for a licence to operate a business featuring electric goods, novelties and gift-ware. The new business venture will be known as Vet's Enterprises. Council approved the application.

Insurance on the skating rink will be up for renewal at the first of the year, council expressing the desire to increase the coverage and intends meeting with the Sports Association in this regard.

Civil Defence, a subject that always receives careful consideration from council, came up with notification that staff officer A. J. Henderson would visit the town on December 16. A welfare section training course will be held in Edmonton with the provincial government underwriting the cost of delegates attending. Council went on record of approving the idea of Coleman sending a delegate and instructed the secretary to notify controller Mr. McDonald of this matter, and also of the pending visit by the staff officer.

The police report was read and accepted, out of which came the decision to prohibit parking in front of the town garage and restrict an area in front of the town hall for use of the police car only. Operating of police car brought out the council's opinion that all services and repairs should be Dance enthusiasts along the Sask-U.S.A. border will in all probability recall Charles Dee and his Hop-a-long's. A Dance Band that rose to popularity not so many years back. Mr. Chas Dee has now directed his musical talents on behalf of the "Sally-Ann" and is at present one of the Cornet Solists with the Salvation Army Calgary Citadel Band.

This Converted Jazz Band Leader will be in the town of Coleman at the Salvation Army Hall on December 20th. He will be conducting three services at the Army on that date. At 11:00 a.m. the regular Holiness meeting. A special service in the afternoon when the new platform of the hall will be dedicated and a beautiful picture of Christ will be unveiled. A portion of the afternoon will be devoted to a devine for the 1st. Coleman S. A. Brownie Pack. At 7:30 p.m. Mr. Dee will bring a stirring Gospel message. All are invited to these meetings.

Bandman Chas Dee is a salesman and is supervisor at Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd., Chemical division at Calgary. His messages have brought blessing and spiritual help to many who have heard him.

A. B. C. League Delegates Meet In Fernie

A meeting of the A. B. C. league was held in the King Edward Hotel at Fernie on Sunday, Dec. 6.

Delegates from the Coleman Grands were Jim Montalbetti, Bill Fraser, Bill Mozell and Ray Spillers. President Les DeArmond presided over the meeting, with Dave Flint of Cranbrook, newly-appointed secretary-treasurer, acting as record secretary.

Representatives from Coleman, Bellevue, Michel-Natal, Fernie, Cranbrook and Kimberley, were present to consider plans for the operation of this year's league.

It was agreed that in all league matches the minimum players limit be 11, otherwise the match would be forfeited by the offending club.

All clubs must send a list of players to the league secretary, the list containing the signatures of the players concerned. This list of players must be reduced to a maximum of 18 by January 15, 1954, to conform with C.A.H.A. regulations.

The league affiliation fee was set at $10, payable January 1st, 1954.

It was agreed to have the league play-off with a western section and an eastern section, as arranged last year. Fernie, Cranbrook and Kimberley will comprise the western section, Coleman, Bellevue and Michel-Natal the eastern. All league commitments should be carried out irrespective of the intermediate play-offs of the two provinces.

C. A. Freeman was named as the Coleman vice-president on the league executive and George Jenkins, sr., Tony Vejprava and Bill Field named as referees by Coleman.

It was moved that the visiting team notify the secretary of the home team three days in advance of a scheduled match if the visitors are bringing a referee or not. The visiting referee will be in charge. The postponement of a match must be made by the home club not later than 10 a.m. of the day of a scheduled match.

Each club will post a cheque for $100 with the league secre-

Purnell Theatres Purchase Cranbrook-Kimberley Houses

Purnell and Sons, theatre operators, who operate theatres Bellevue, Blairmore, Coleman Lacombe and Red Deer have acquired all the holdings of the Cranbrook Theatres, which comprises the Armond and Star Theatres in Cranbrook and the Orpheum in Kimberley.

Negotiations are also being completed to take over the Ponoka interests as of April 1, 1954, which will include two theatre houses and a drive-in. As of the first of the year, all the theatres will become affiliated with the Famous Players theatres, the Red Deer theatre is already an affiliate.

Harold Purnell will manage three theatres in Cranbrook, Don, the three Pass theatres, J. Purnell, two at Lacombe, Len and Gordon Purnell, two in Red Deer. In April 1954, Ed. Somahor, operating the Romy in Coleman at the present time, will take over the Ponoka theatres.

Purnell Theatres also announce that they have acquired 60 acres of land in the Crows Nest Pass for the possible erection of a Drive In.

Curlers To Present Curling Films

Free films of interest to curlers will be presented in the Union Hall at 8:00 p.m. December 20, providing from 1 to 1½ hours of entertainment and instruction for those interested in the game.

Word reaching this office states that the showing will include the Brian Playdowns and a two reel of curling instruction by Ken Watson, dean of Canadian curling. Everyone is welcome to attend this showing, and the curling club is anxious that high school and younger curlers take advantage of the instruction.

tary to be forfeited to a home club if a visiting club defaults a match.

The matter of each visiting club receiving 10c of each adult admission of the home club was defeated. This motion was introduced by Kimberley.

Ray Spillers, chairman of the league schedule committee, requested that in order to submit a tentative schedule by December 16 h would require data from each club concerning preferred dates of matches.

JUNK FARMING—Junk is the principal product of this tumble-down farm at West Almond, N.Y. Here farmer John Herdman finds his hobby of collecting, swapping and bargaining for "things" far more profitable than raising vegetables. Herdman's farmhouse, adjacent sheds and surrounding weed-choked land are crammed with his "collector's items", which range from mousetraps to ancient headdresses.

NATIVE PLUMAGE AND ANCIENT PACT—Fighting Mohawks of the Iroquois tribe, gathered here in front of the Supreme Court building, assembled in Ottawa to hear the appeal in Exchequer Court of Louis Francis, Indian welder at St. Regis, Que., against customs duties charged on personal goods he brought back from the United States. Francis, in center wearing dark suit and flanked by two soldiers, claims all Canadian Indians are exempt from such duties under the Anglo-American Jay Treaty of 1794. In the group is Chief Foking Fire of nearby Caughnawaga.

WOMEN MEMBERS—These are the four women members of the House of Commons who attended the opening of Parliament in Ottawa. Left to right, are: Mrs. Ann Shipley (L—Temiskaming); Miss Margaret Aitken, (PC—York Humber); Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West); and Miss Sybil Bennett (PC—Halton). Mrs. Fairclough was the only woman member of the last Commons.

RURAL WATER SYSTEM—So light that a small boy could easily carry several hundred feet, rust proof polythene plastic piping is science's latest contribution to rural water systems. Both flexible and resilient, the piping is resistant to corrosive soil chemicals and can be installed economically. Here we see a farm youngster laying the piping while his father plows a furrow. A truck would be required to convey the same length of metal pipe.

BEDSIDE BUTTONS CONTROL ALL HOUSE LIGHTS

NEW YORK—Did you ever climb into bed and then suddenly remember you forgot to turn out the lights in the living room?

Thanks to a new device, there's no need to leave the bed. You simply reach out a hand and—presto!—the lights go out.

The secret lies in a household master switch designed to control from a single point as many as nine different circuits.

With push-button ease, you can extinguish a light or turn on an attic fan by using this remote control system.

In the morning, just by lifting a finger, you switch on the radio and start the coffee perking in the kitchen.

In fullness and variety of tone, the clarinet is said to be the most perfect wind instrument.

THE FINISHING TOUCH—Donald Gordon, chairman and president, Canadian National Railways, drives the last spike at Lynn Lake, Manitoba, to officially open the new 144-mile line from Sherridon northward. Driving of the nickel-plated spike during a snow storm marked the opening of the line to loads of ore from Sherritt Gordon's new nickel and copper mine in northern Manitoba.

HIGHLIGHT—One of the highlights of the Fontana de la collection is this ball gown, of sheer yellow shantung organza, embroidered with iridescent shells.

BROKEN HOMES—Heavy masonry was no match for the furious floodwaters that recently engulfed Oliveto and other towns in the southern Calabria region of Italy. More than 100 were killed and 3,000 were made homeless, including this forlorn family of Oliveto.

TWO-TIMER—A tiny pearl button, (top), for wear with tailored daytime clothing becomes a glamorous drop for gala occasions with the addition of a pearl-and-rhinestone "attachment", (below), in La Tausca's "Two-Timer" earring.

And in Denver, an Indian named John Nelson Never-Miss-A-Shot was picked up by the eagle-eyed gendarmes. The charge? Whv, intoxication—natch!

The percentage of salt in the Great Salt lake is about 25 per cent.

HOLY LAND ROCKS—Part of a 100-ton shipment of rocks from historic Biblical sites is unloaded from the SS Excellency at a Jersey City, N.J., pier. The shipment arrived from Haifa, Israel, with material to build an authentic "Garden of Israel" at Beth Israel Memorial Park in Woodbridge, N.J.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY —

NEW JOB

"You Get On the Wrong Side Of the Law Too Often. Just Driftin' Around."

By Russell Wiley

THE bell over the door twinkled. After a short pause a man of stocky build came out from the rear of the store, tying on an apron. Seeing the customer, a tall, well-muscled lad of about twenty, mounted a stool at the soda fountain, the man stepped behind the counter and said, "Nice evening... what'll it be?"

The young man thought a moment, running the zipper of his jacket up and down. "Guess a chocolate sundae," he said, slowly. "You still got things out?"

"Sure," the man answered, glancing at the clock over the drug department. It showed 10.45. "Are you close pretty soon?"

The young man added, "How about that sundae?"

"Oh, sure," the counterman answered, rummaging for utensils. "Have to be patient. I ain't got my bearings yet. I'm new on the job."

"I wouldn't know," the younger one replied laconically. The man looked up. "You new in town?"

The other nodded again, playing with his zipper. "Well, fancy that," the man went on, shaking his head, "I got into town this morning myself. Saw an ad in the paper, came down and got the job." He indicated a paper on the counter. The youth picked it up. "WANTED—Ambitious man as assistant for commission drug-soda fountain. Start immediately. Preferably young."

The other was slowly putting the sundae together. "Marshmallow?" he queried.

The youth nodded. "I bet I know what you're thinking," the man said as he ladled out the syrup. "You're thinking, 'What an odd guy like this soda jerker for?' He placed the sundae before his customer, laid a spoon beside it, then leaned forward. "Well, I'll tell you, son. I been on the road a long time. I figure it's about time I settled down. It ain't an easy life, hummin' around."

He paused. "You on the road?" "Guess you might call it that." The other nodded his arm. "Well, it might look easy now, but some day you'll see it the way I do. You get on the wrong side of the law too often, just driftin' around."

The man went on in the same vein, glancing occasionally at the clock and then towards the rear. The youth asked, "All alone?"

"Huh? Oh, no. The boss's in the back, totalling up the take." The youth dropped his spoon. It bounced off the counter and disappeared.

"I'll get it," the man said quickly, bending down. The butt of a revolver protruded from his pocket. With cat-like speed, the youth leaned across and snaked out the gun.

"The man straightened. "Say, what're you doing?" "Nice gun, you got here," the youth said. "I'd like to have it."

"Give it back. It ain't mine. I was packin' it 'cause the boss has so much money on hand."

The youth pointed the gun. "Let's see how the boss is making out."

"Now hold on—" "Go on," the youth snapped.

"Be reasonable, son. You're only gettin' yourself into trouble."

The youth prodded the man into the back room. Strapped to a chair was an elderly man, with a handkerchief across his mouth. In the corner was a safe with a rag-bag chisel jammed between the door and the frame, and a hammer beside it.

"Look, bub, there's enough here for both of us," said the counterman.

"Shut up," the youth ordered. With his free hand, he removed the gag.

The victim gasped: "Son, even if you were late gettin' back, I'm mighty glad to see you."

"Sorry," the youth answered, "I was trying to find a room."

Then he told the apoplectic man, "I answered that ad myself, pal, early this morning. I was the one who was new on the job, not you."

It's Getting Easier For RCMP Horses

The Mounties are making things easier for their horses.

The last time the Royal Canadian Mounted Police reported their strength someone figured that if all Mounties were mounted, they would have to put 37 men on a horse.

The latest annual report showed that there were 176 horses for 4,333 uniformed officers and men—about 25 to a horse.

The world's first railway timetable was issued in England in 1839.

APPETIZING RECIPES

For a change give your early-risers a breakfast of French Toast and bacon. Your home-made jelly makes a tasty accompaniment.

FRENCH TOAST

Two eggs, beaten slightly,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup milk,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup shortening. Combine beaten eggs, milk and salt in a shallow bowl. Melt shortening in a skillet. Dip bread slices into egg mixture, turning them to coat on both sides in hot fat. Serve with jelly or preserves. Yields 4 servings—2 slices toast per serving.

Funny and Otherwise

"What about the thirty dollars you owe me?"

"Quite all right—it's your birthday next Sunday and I'm going to bring it to you with my congratulations."

"You just bring the money and I'll congratulate myself."

A man had been looking at a car in a motor salesroom but did not make a decision on the spot.

The following day he turned up again and stated that he had decided to buy the car.

"That's fine," said the salesman, pleased at having satisfied his customer. "Now tell me, what was the dominating thing that made you buy the car?"

The man grinned. "My wife," he replied.

He was in deep disgrace, and try as he would, he could not get a smile out of his wife at the breakfast table.

"Are you angry with me because I came home with a black eye last night?" he asked in desperation.

"No," replied his wife tersely. "You ain't got it when you came home."

The head of the house was reading a newspaper article. At last he remarked to his wife: "Do you know, dear, I think that the cleverness of a father often proves a stumbling block to his son."

His wife sighed with relief. "Well, thank goodness," she said, "our John won't have anything to fall over!"

A loveless sailor decided to celebrate pay day by sending a telegram to his girl. After chawing on his pencil for several minutes, he finally handed in a message which read: "I love you, I love you, Bill."

The counter clerk read it and said: "You're allowed to add another word for the same price."

The sailor pondered for several minutes, then inserted his extra word. It was: "Regards."

A psychiatrist asked a patient what dream she had had the previous night. She replied that she had not dreamed at all.

"Madam," he said, "I can't help you if you won't do your homework."

Tom: "Do you believe that a rabbit's foot brings good luck?" Joe: Sure do. One saved me a lot of money once.

Tom: "How was that?" Joe: "I had it in my pocket one night and my wife thought it was a mouse."

An inspector was visiting a village school.

"What kind of arms has a blacksmith?" he asked.

"Big ones," said one smart boy.

"Quite right," replied the inspector. "For why has the blacksmith bigger arms than I have?"

"He works," came the reply from the back of the class.

Conversation at the club turned to the oldest member, Hawkins, who for many years had vainly squirmed under the thumb of a domineering wife—a proud, ingenious woman whose lightest whisper was law.

"How long has Hawkins been married?" someone asked.

"Oh," said a bright member, "I suppose about twenty aged years."

Butter Preserved Successfully By New Process At The University Of Manitoba

WINNIPEG.—They opened a two-year-old can of butter at the University of Manitoba the other day and it was in fine condition.

It tasted just like fresh butter, but had been kept in a locker without refrigeration in temperatures ranging up to 90 degrees.

The magic, secret formula isn't magic or secret. All you need, says Dr. J. M. Nesbitt, who is in charge of research on the project, is just a pinch of anti-oxidant, a thorough sterilization and an airtight can.

The men are working on a grant from the Defence Research board and are not particularly interested in the commercial value of the project. It would cost a bit more than ordinary butter—but not much.

Dr. Nesbitt says all you need to do is take ordinary butter, sterilize it and make sure no oxygen is present to make it keep indefinitely.

If some needed equipment comes through, he hopes to have the product in mass production by spring. It will be ideal for northern camps and army installations where refrigeration is not available. It becomes as perishable as ordinary butter when the can is opened.

No opposition, such as there was when margarine appeared, is expected from dairy product producers because the butter actually is a dairy product and can be most easily produced by the creameries themselves.

1910 Thresher Put Back Into Operation

Just recently a tradition was revived 10 miles north and 2 miles east of Wapella, Sask.

Back in 1910 Harry Klenman purchased a big 60 h.p. J. I. Case steam engine and threshing separator, and did a big job of threshing all over the area for several years and a highly satisfactory job.

Our own, on the W-12 12-16-33, was one the first year.

The old 32-54 separator is still in good shape; its biggest run being 93,000 bushels in the year. A total of probably close to the 3 million bushels all told.

The old engine never ran since 1940, but this season Harry determined he was going to get it going. After considerable delay the Provincial Boiler Inspector, Joe Galbraith, called and did his stuff. Result, 100% O.K. for the 43-year-old boiler, still on its first replacement set of flues, and passed 135 PSL working pressure, its original rating. The old engine runs and handles just like it did at the beginning, except for course, for somewhat worn gears, for it did hundreds of acres of brush-breaking in its time, and appears to have its original power, with minor adjustments.

Forty-one carloads of visitors including several old "steamer" men, who had a real time and all "kids" present had a ride and most a whistle blow, as well as many adults. The old engine is scheduled ultimately for a local museum piece, which we hope materializes—Wapella Post.

Unusual Dead Letter Office

VANCOUVER.—Chinese in this city have an unusual dead letter office.

It's a bulletin board in the window of the Chinese Times, situated in the heart of the second largest Chinese community outside the Orient.

When letter carriers fail to find an addressee in Chinatown, the mail goes to the Times, which pins it up in the window. In nine years, an estimated 2,000 letters have been delivered this way. Only one or two have hung there the one-year time limit after which time they are returned to sender.

Prevent Fires

In most places fires are common at Christmas time. We in Coleman have been very fortunate, and a great deal of this is due to the fact that people are more fire conscious

To help you have a Merry, Fire-Safe Christmas, the Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade lists the following precautions

1. Do not bring your tree into the house until a few days before Christmas.
2. Get it outside afterwards, as soon as possible.
3. The larger the tree the greater the hazard. Do not buy a larger one than you need.
4. Stand the tree in water.
5. Place tree so that standing or fallen it cannot block exits.
6. Place tree as far as possible from radiators and fireplaces.
7. Check your strings of lights.
8. Do not connect too many strings of lights to one circuit.
9. Do not allow electric bulbs to touch tree branches.
10. Use only fireproof decorations.
11. Do not allow the children to play near the tree with electrical toys or with clockwork toys which spark.
12. Turn off the tree lights when you leave the room. Never leave tree lights when out.

Coleman Volunteer Fire Brigade is classed as one of the most efficient in the province. Should a fire break out during the festive season a brigade of this type will turn out in full despite the fact that their own celebrations may be spoiled. Now is the time to see that necessary precautions are taken. See that trees are kept away from fireplaces, heaters or radiators. Place the tree in a container holding water and keep it from blocking doors or stairways. Check the sockets and wiring of your tree lights before installing and see that lights are not drying out the needles. Fallen needles and gift wrappings should be removed from the base of the tree.

Sports Highlights

The following report appeared in Jack Kavanagh's Column in the Cranbrook Courier.

Kimberley Intermediates held their annual meeting and elected their officers to guide them for the coming term.

Gino De Cilla, popular hotelier, has replaced Bill Paulds as president with another hotelman, George Ure, vice-president. Ike Daurie was named secretary with Ozzie Payette the manager. Harry Brown was elected coach of the team. Executive members are Tom McLay, W. Muir Sr., G. Vannatime and Jack Kavanagh publicity.

Kimberley will open their season in Cranbrook December 26. The club is practicing twice a week and it looks like Kimberley will ice a powerhouse squad. Dave McLay looks sharp in the net after a bout with polo earlier this fall.

Kimberley had two delegates to the league meeting at Fernie on Sunday. Ike Daurie said either Coleman or Bellevue will open the league in Kimberley.

A LESSON FROM BUSH TOWN

Residents of East Coleman are showing the way to the incorporated town of Coleman and before many months are past the people of the improvement district will be able to boast that they have a service that Coleman needs and needs badly.

Elsewhere in this paper is the report that East Coleman residents are signing for house numbers and that it is only a matter of time until trying to locate someone in the district will be an easy matter.

On more than one occasion we have tried to follow instructions to locate a certain person. On most occasions the instructions refer to "The Bluff" or "through the rock cut" or "that's on the Hill", or various landmarks. On more than one occasion delivery men, telegraph messengers and visitors come in search of information, and leave completely confused. Coleman could well follow the example being set by the in the I.D.

The greatest task in a project such as this seems to be the canvass, most residents willing to pay the nominal fee for numbers, Coleman boasts a number of clubs that are referred to as service clubs. A project of this type would be of great service to the residents and more especially to the newcomer, the deliveryman and the visitor.

Coleman stores offer many suitable items for gifts

Timely Suggestions For The Christmas Shoppers

(by Betty Pedosuk and Betty Wilson)

So you're "stuck" for gift ideas! Well, we have been browsing around town for your benefit to see just what Coleman has to offer in the way of helping Santa Claus. We assure you that there are many lovely gifts to be found here.

For Mother—

1.—Every woman dreams of owning a fur coat. Why not have all the family chip in together to make one of her dreams come true this Christmas? There is a wide variety of these furs in our local stores. The types range from the less expensive but attractive mouton to the higher priced muskrat.

2.—We have found that nylon, an ever-popular material, has been worked into many different fields, especially clothing. Maybe the following will give you some hints for Mom's Christmas present.

(a) Nylon blouses, all shades and sizes, with a price range of about $4.95 to $8.95.

(b) Nylon lingerie, such as delicate nylon negligees of pastel shades and costing about $7.95, or petticoats (usually white) having a price of $6.95. These petticoats are edged with about 10 inches of lace.

3.—Of course, to make her new outfit complete, she needs jewelry. A lovely rhinestone set on a sterling silver base makes a beautiful memorable gift. A Bulova watch would serve as a remembrance of the Christmas of 1953 as well as being very useful during her lifetime.

4.—Naturally she will appreciate some household articles which will help her in her daily duties. For her cooking there are many different types of utensils. Pressure cookers and deep-fryers have an unlimited number of uses.

Make her wash day more enjoyable by giving her a steam iron (or an automatic washer).

5.—A pop-up toaster proves to be very handy when "he" is making breakfast for "her".

6.—Have you thought of how much she would enjoy walking into her living room and standing on a beautiful new rug? The range of prices and sizes will suit your budget. (From 27x51 to 46x76 inches).

7.—Surely you will wish to make her Christmas a joyful one by presenting her with a brand new combination radio and phonograph in walnut finish or a chest-of-drawers in a soft rose with hostess chair to match.

8.—Set that new lamp on a walnut end-table.

For Grandma—

1.—Picture Grandma in a new dress to flatter her girlish figure. Serviceable dark colors and a variety of sizes and prices can be found.

2.—Shuggle-down nighties will keep her warm during the winter months. Because of their low, practical prices, you may even buy her two.

3.—To set off her Sunday best she will appreciate a lovely leather or plastic purse. These have varying prices and sizes so we leave you to select your own range.

4.—We suggest a coat in one of the popular materials.

5.—A beautiful scenic picture will add splendor to her cozy living room.

For Big Sister—

1.—If Sister Sue is the sportive type, she'll probably be hoping for selection is great, both in quality and quantity. All skirts are equipped with harnesses, and poles can be bought separately.

2.—An excellent pair of figure skates can be purchased for not much higher than $6.00.

3.—Be sure she is on time for her appointments by presenting her with a watch and match it with an expansion bracelet.

4.—If she's a music fiend, a portable 3-speed phonograph plays 78, 45 and 31 1-3 records! It will be perfect for her room or wherever she wants it.

5.—Every girl can use an extra skirt and your sister is no exception. During our preview of the stores we discovered some beautiful skirts of woollens, tartans, corduroys, tweeds, orlons and gabardines in a price range from $6.95 to $19.95.

6.—Grandma's sweaters will be an asset as a separate in her wardrobe and will top her new skirts to a "T" while a shiny metal-diamond will add sparkle to her outfit.

7.—A Parker "21" pen and pencil set will help her in her high school work and in her correspondence.

8.—A Baby Brownie camera will start her off right as an amateur photographer and a plastic wallet with a photo section will be proudly used to show off her attempts at picturing her friends.

9.—A set of luggage will prepare her for her future college life.

For Dad and His Sportsman Son—

1.—Woolen tartan shirts and lovely sports jackets by Timberline are just the thing for a hunter.

2.—Too, if he is a hunter, there are guns of all kinds, Winchester, .22 calibre, shotguns, and all other types of big game guns are obtainable.

3.—A portable radio will keep them entertained on their hunting trips. This is a lifetime gift.

4.—An essential item on a hunter's list is a pair of field glasses. These have varying prices from $10.95 up.

5.—The pictures taken with a Brownie Hawkeye Camera will prove to refresh their memories of their enjoyable trips.

6.—Dad's bamboo fishing rod is getting kind of "ancient". Why not surprise him this Christmas with one of those new styled glass rods with a spinning reel.

7.—If the men in the house like to dabble in mechanics, fill a tool case with a variety of wrenches, screw drivers and bolts to make their hobby more fun.

8.—All hobbies set aside, let us have a look at our heroes in the social world. An electric shaver will make that morning shaving a quicker and neater task.

9.—Let him dress up in a shirt (Arrow or Forsyth) for $4.95 to $8.95 (all colors, plain and stripes) and a pair of dress slacks in conventional colors and styles.

10.—A warm overcoat in popular shades, materials and sizes is a necessary garment in any man's wardrobe. Economically priced to fit your budget, they are available at any of our dry goods stores.

11.—Naturally to go with this outfit he'll need a monogrammed silk scarf in white or maroon.

12.—We are sure that you will be proud to give Dad or Big Brother a beautiful combination lighter-case.

For Grandpa—

1.—For Grandpa we have just the thing, and for only $4.95! It's a pipe holder. If we know anything about grandpas then we know also that this will be a very appreciated gift. Some styles have a container for keeping tobacco moist and fresh.

2.—A new expansion bracelet is getting a little on the worn-out side.

3.—Like Uncle, Dad and Big Brother, Grandpa needs a new shirt, of course.

4.—Ski pajamas have proved to be popular among both young and old. I am sure that Grandpa old ones are a little worn now, so why not buy him a new pair?

For Little Brother—

1.—A little jersey or cotton T-shirt is just the thing that little brother needs to match his new pair of flannel dress slacks. There is a wide variety of designs, colors and sizes at most of our local dry goods stores.

2.—For the little man who likes the outdoors, a pair of sturdy denim or corduroy overalls would be appreciated by his mother as well as him.

3.—When the snow flies, mitts and sweaters are "musts" around the "Pass". A V-neck pullover or cardigan under his parka will keep him extra warm when he's out riding on his new sleigh or toboggan. The mitts, either plastic or fleece-lined will keep "Jack Frost" away from his hands.

4.—When it's just too cold to play outside you can always keep him amused with an electric train.

(We were debating whether this item should be listed under Dad or his young son, but then, if Dad buys it for him...)

5.—On days when he feels like a truck driver rather than an engineer, he will thank you for the new truck you gave him.

6.—For the young Gene Autry fan nothing but a "genuine" Gene Autry pistol without holster will do.

7.—For a very little brother, a rubber squeeze toy or a toy telephone will surely please him.

8.—A tool set for the young carpenter is a very good idea.

For Little Sister—

1.—Of course the first idea that anyone ever thinks of when giving a little girl a gift, is a doll selection to delight any miniature mother and the prices will delight you.

Accessories for the young mother's house can be obtained along with the dolls for a very low cost.

2.—If your "kid" sister or young daughter is old enough to learn to skate, a new pair of skates would be just the thing.

3.—She would be very proud of a signet ring with a birthstone not less sparkling than her eyes.

4.—Two piece cotton sleepers in soft pinks, yellows and blues with snap closures are very appropriate for any child.

5.—Nylon and cotton blouses for the young school girl are practical and pretty.

6.—The serviceable pants-slip combination in silk would be delightful.

7.—Or give her an adorable floral designed dress in pastel shades.

8.—The ever popular toys, plush animals, including cats, dogs and bears make cuddly gifts for girls and boys alike. The height is anywhere from five inches to 30 inches.

9.—Nylon blouses and slips an electric tie would prove very

For Auntie—

1.—For aunts with pierced ears nothing would be more appreciated than a pair of drop earrings. There is a very selective variety of these.

2.—For an extra special aunt, appropriate.

For her, too.

3.—Make lovely and serviceable gifts.

4.—The daintiness of an Eastern Star chapter ring would flatter her hand, or else give her a lodge pin.

5.—By giving her a Parker "21" pen and pencil set you will make her letter-writing a pleasure.

6.—An improvement will be added to her amateur photography if she has a flash bulb attachment for her camera.

For Uncle—

1.—If it's Uncle's present that has you stumped, why not get him a personalized Hickok belt? Because of their wide range of prices we leave it to your judgment to choose the most economically priced one.

2.—For an uncle who smokes, a new Ronson lighter would prove very handy.

3.—A tie clip is just the thing to set off his new hand-painted tie.

4.—For the sum of $4.95 to $8.95 and up one may purchase a new Arrow Shirt which would prove very serviceable to the business-man uncle.

5.—Maybe Uncle is one of those men who likes V-neck pullover sweaters. Well, our local stores carry these in many different shades and sizes.

Games For All Make Christmas Family Party

Christmas is the time for family get-togethers. One of the best ways to make these gatherings memorable for all concerned is to engage in games which the whole group can play.

A nice one to start off with would be a Sugar Plum Hunt.

Have one member of the family hide Christmas candles ahead of time in various nooks and corners around the house. At a given signal everyone starts hunting and gathering the pieces. The one who gathers the greatest number would be given a prize.

The Christmas Puzzle is another good one to get things going. Look through some magazines, which are filled with pictures of Santa Claus at this time of year.

Cut out enough of these to go around, paste them on stiff cardboard, and cut them into pieces. Then put each group of pieces in a separate paper bag. At the signal, everyone opens a bag and starts putting the puzzle together.

The Christmas Scramble Contest is good for a group with older children in it. This is simply a contest to see who can unscramble a group of words that are listed for fun—see if you can work out the following — astria, erirenden, ehsil, dynca, gosknet, erte, trepsen, hupnc, alsore and niborb.

20,000 Prairie Dogs Live In Own "Town"

DOG TOWN, Sask.—Although this place has 20,000 inhabitants, it can't be found under city, town or village listings in the Canadian Almanac. In fact, it's the only community of its kind in North America. Dog Town, 155 miles southwest of Regina, is a giant community of prairie dogs—a small burrowing animal not much larger than a groundhog.

Once they roamed the continent by the millions. Now they are almost extinct.

Surrounded by desert, they live in the peaceful seclusion of Saskatchewan's dust bowl. Where nothing grows but grass and wild flowers, the prairie dog finds his living.

Albert Swanton and red Lahtman, field workers with the Saskatchewan provincial museum, recently visited Dog Town to investigate "living conditions" and bring back specimens.

"When you visit the community, you can't help being impressed by how these creatures live," said Mr. Swanton.

"We saw 500 prairie dogs in one colony where there were 200 burrows. On top of one mound six dogs were perched."

At one time the dogs numbered 400,000,000 in an area of 230,000

Life In A Small Town

(The Kipling Citizen)

When we say that life in a small town is better than life anywhere else, we don't mean that the people are any better or any worse than they are anywhere else. It's cozier, that's all, and that's enough. Occasionally crime pays a visit and shows us that the shocking things we read about can happen here, occasionally some of our own step out and into trouble, making themselves and everyone around them unhappy, but in a small town it is easy to crowd around people or scenes and lend a hand or an ear.

Not long ago we sat in a cafe and watched a waitress serve a button on a man's shirt sleeve. She got his coffee first and, apparently noticing his buttonless plight, got a needle, thread and button next. Leaning over the counter she daintily sewed the button, but then the sleeve, gave him a bit of coffee, then a pat on the head, and went on her way. There, we thought, is a good picture of life in a small town. It is typical of the personal touch added to many a business deal.

Whether we realize it or not, we're a critical bunch in a small town, and whether we realize it or not, we're critical usually because we know each other so well. After you rub elbows and mingle with people for awhile you get to know his shortcomings and his financial standing and from there on you are at once an admirer and a severe critic of your boss or friend. If he fails to do something, you give him the devil because you know that he could have done it, or you don't like the reason he didn't do it. If he buys something new, you say how can he do that when he hasn't got two cents to call his own and he owes the bank. If he has a little money, you give him the devil because he hasn't bought anything new since his wife gave him a dollar out of her father's wedding gift money. Why do you do it? Because he's your friend, that's why. Because you know too much about him for his own good? No. You can't know too much about a friend for his own good.

Don't blame yourself, now, for knowing too much about the people around you. You live in a small town and you don't really qualify for community citizenship until you have a few buttons missing—and quite a few friends who are willing to sew them back on for you.

Influx Of Prospectors, Miners Makes Survey Of Sask. North Boundary Necessary

Saskatchewan has long been known as Canada's only box-shaped province—but until this summer the need to close the lid on the box, that is to delineate visibly the northern boundary of the province, had not been considered necessary.

However, the current influx of prospectors and miners into the extreme north of Saskatchewan and beyond into the Northwest Territories has made it necessary to survey this boundary so that all concerned may know the jurisdiction they are staking claims.

Since the northern boundary of Saskatchewan is also the southern boundary of the Northwest Territories, its survey is the joint interest of the federal and provincial governments. As a result, the Saskatchewan-Northwest Territories Boundary Commission, composed of representatives of both governments, was established to supervise the survey.

Chairman of this commission is B. W. Waugh, Surveyor General of Canada, with A. I. Borek, Controller of Surveys, representing the province.

Technically, the boundary of Saskatchewan is defined as that section of the 60th parallel of north latitude between the meridians 105 and 102 degrees and 110 degrees west of Greenwich. Although the final task is to run a "cut line" through the bush along the boundary and establish boundary markers at frequent intervals, the first requirement is to locate the 60th parallel by astronomic observations taken at 20-mile intervals along the boundary.

The completion of these observations would give 13 check points across the top of Saskatchewan, which would serve to control the ultimate cutting of a six foot boundary line through the bush.

Mr. Borek noted that all trees and bushes would be cleared in a six-foot swath along the boundary, with the actual boundary line in the centre of the swath. The boundary, which will be roughly 270 miles long, will also be indicated by boundary markers placed close enough together so that one can be seen from any given point along the boundary.

The boundary markers will be 20-inch posts with Northwest Territories marked on one side and Saskatchewan on the other. The boundary, once it has been cleared, will be visible from the air and from the ground.

To establish the astronomical check points, which serve to guide the cutting of the boundary line, V. D. Forrester, of the Geodetic Survey of Canada and H. F. Spradley, a student assistant from Queen's University, worked during June, July and August in the rugged radioactive wilderness of northern Saskatchewan.

Transportation from one check point to another proved no problem, since the area along Saskatchewan's northern boundary is dotted with lakes accessible to Saskatchewan Government Airways aircraft from Uranium City. Beginning at the western end of the boundary, the two-man observing party leap-frogged from lake to lake toward the east, completing nine stations this summer.

At each station, a monument was erected and its geographic position determined on the earth's spheroid by star observations.

Although two or three clear nights are enough to complete observing at each station, cloudy weather stretched the average time per station to nine days.

To advise the Saskatchewan Government Airways at Uranium City when a plane was required, contact was maintained with the network of Saskatchewan's Department of Natural Resources radio stations.

Through the co-operation of all those involved, the progress made this year was termed by officials as gratifying. Thus, the first stage in marking the boundary—that of providing control stations—is now completed and the actual work of clearing a boundary line and establishing boundary markers will be started during the winter of 1954-55.

Canada Cement Plans To Double Capacity Of Fort Whyte Plant

Canada Cement company has announced their intention to immediately rebuild and enlarge their Fort Whyte plant to double its present capacity.

The announcement was made simultaneously by Hon. R. D. Turner, Minister of Industry and Commerce and J. M. Breen, president and general manager of Canada Cement Company Ltd.

Mr. Turner said cost of enlarging and rebuilding the plant will be in the neighborhood of $4-50 million. Plans are already under way and work will commence at the earliest possible moment.

It is expected that it will take a year to a year and a half to complete the project although cement from the new facilities should be available next year. Orders are now being placed for the required machinery and equipment.

When completed the new modernized plant will have doubled the capacity of the present plant which is now 1,600,000 barrels per year. The company feels this increased productive capacity is considerably greater than the present demand would indicate as immediately necessary, but it is hoped that as population increases in Manitoba and district, the output will eventually be absorbed.

It is the intention to keep the present plant running at full capacity while the additional facilities are being built so there will be no curtailment of output.

"Canada Cement company should be complimented on their decision to increase their investment in this province," the minister said, "and it is practical evidence of their faith and confidence in the potentialities of this province."

It is one of the heaviest capital outlays ever made in Winnipeg by a private concern, he stated. "There will be few communities in the province which will not benefit directly or indirectly," Mr. Turner forecast, "and this should be an end to the cement shortages that have existed in this province since the end of World War II."

Milestone In Saskatchewan

Archie Adair, 79-year-old former mayor of Indian Head, led the distinction of being the 2,000,000th person to be examined in the mass community surveys which are being carried on in Saskatchewan. The first survey was held in 1941 and since then the province has been covered three times. The Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis Society conducted its fourth one round this spring. The 2,000,001st person to go through the mobile clinic was one of Indian Head's younger residents, little Cynthia Ramsay, aged three.

Evidence Found Of An Historic Pitched Battle In Southwest Sask.

REGINA.—A pitched battle evidently took place at one time in the history of southern Saskatchewan.

Fred McGuinness, executive director of the Saskatchewan Golden Jubilee committee, said that what appear to be trenches fortified with heavy bullets have been located in the Val Marie district south of Swift Current. He added that J. D. Herbert, director of historic sites for the committee, has made tentative plans to have the area next spring with a mine detector squad in an effort to determine at what period in history the trenches were built. The site is west of Beaver Valley school, on the old 76 ranch, and was marked on the Mounted ATHABASCA, Alta. — A. C. Braden, well-known beekeeper of this district, was awarded the Canadian Beekeepers Council shield at the Alberta Beekeepers' association convention. The shield is an annual award given to the beekeeper whose honey exhibit at the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver wins the highest number of points. Presentation was made by William Turnbull, president of the Canadian council.

Motorists Using Reflector Tape On Gloves

VANCOUVER.—A new gadget for motorists—reflector-tape gloves—has been given the blessing of Vancouver traffic Superintendent Gordon Ambrose. Motorist Bill Rose suggested use of the gloves, made by putting strips of reflector tape on the back of ordinary gloves, to make hand signals clear at night.

P.S.—It works.

Old Indian Chief Proud Jaywalker

Eighty-Three-Year-Old Chief Of Okanagan Indian Reserve Member of Ancient Order

PENTICTON, B.C. — Eighty-three-year-old Chief William Krueger of the Okanagan Indian Reserve, is proud of his membership in the Ancient Order of Jaywalkers, but says this does not allow him to walk between intersections on city streets.

He said that in 1880 a bill by a man named Jay and known as the Jay-walking bill was made law in the United States. It gave Indians, Canadian and American, living on reservations the right to walk across the international boundary at will, taking with them household chattels.

"There is no limit placed on the time we may stay, how much money we have or how much we spend. Before we could bring in goods as household chattels, but this has been restricted and we are now in the unfortunate class of the white man as regards to duties," he said.

Chief Krueger, a son of a Dutch father and full-blooded Indian mother, operates a farm near here.

Hockey Build-Up Schedule

IN PREPARING for the actual start of the hockey practice season it is wise to work on certain fundamentals of conditioning so that the player will be in a sound enough basic condition to take part in the training plan once the season gets under way. Since hockey is definitely a lung, heart and leg activity, the best possible condition is running. However, just going for a long, easy run is not sufficient. Certainly it will develop condition of a kind but not the kind near the level of condition desired. The ideal pre-season program should include a lot of sprint work as well as distance work. A sample week's workout of this type is given as an illustration:

First day: Free, relaxed jogging for two or three minutes then ten or fifteen fast bursts of 15 yards, slowing gradually and jogging back to starting point between each burst. These bursts should be taken from a standing start with the feet comfortably apart, knees slightly bent and body square to the direction in which the athlete will be running. One start should be made with the left leg moving first, the next with the right. The athlete should be helped by somebody else who can start him by a hard clap of the hands. After the session of short sprints the athlete should jog off his fatigue by doing two or three minutes of slow, relaxed jogging.

THEY REAP A HARVEST BECAUSE OF YOU

Seems like some other life those far away days.
Before war with its call broke into our ways.
All those our future plans were laid in vain;
Abruptly ended there nor formed again.
Ours was the vision fair; love, work and home complete—
You and I together. Then came the marching feet.
Gone was that way of life; you joined the throng.
Our dreams would have to wait; no telling how long.
You are a memory now; yet dreams come true
To those who after came—because of you.
They reap the harvest bright you fought to guard.
So, knowing that today, my path is not hard.
(Written after hearing an Armistice Day Service)

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

When a man wears something to cover his baldness or improve the appearance of his head, it is referred to as a "wig" or a "toupee." Many jests regarding the wearing of said "toupee" or "wig" are made by women. In many cases, these nasty cracks so get under the skin of the toupee wearer that he abandons the effort to rejuvenate or improve his looks. However, when a woman wears a wig, it is called a "transformation," this seldom inspires adverse comment. Also, when a man goes in for a general rejuvenation of his appearance by facial treatment, massage, health belt, etc., he is subjected to cruel cracks by females, often including some by his wife. Fact is, most wives don't want their husbands to look too young. They are afraid it might give their spouses young ideas. Besides, when a husband has an elderly appearance, it accentuates any youthful appearance a wife may have achieved by a transformation, griddle, beauty treatment, etc.

Insurance on Triplets

Are you by any chance expecting a blessed event at your house? Have you taken out insurance against having triplets? I heard of a fellow who took out a $10,000 policy as insurance for the expense triplets. And so what? Well, sir, it was triplets—three boys.

Voice Saves the Face

Why is it so many actresses in their forties retain a facial appearance that is devoid of wrinkles? Of course, facial treatments have something to do with it. However, an authority on the subject says it is partially due to the fact that smart actresses express their moods with the voice rather than by facial expressions. Thus, the facial expressions. Thus, the facial muscles are protected and so do not produce wrinkles that are difficult to smooth out. It is also said that is why so many elderly Chinese men and women have youthful appearing faces.

New Title for the Job

This department is opposed to the term "housewife." Housemaker or home manager seem more desirable designations. Every wife who handles the management of a home should have an office. All plans for homes should include such a room. Here the wife could have her phone, a desk, filing cabinets, bookshelf for cookbooks, etc. Speaking of house plans, I favor husband and wife teams of architects. A house planned by such a combination would give both husband and wife occupants a break. Too often the husband is almost a forgotten man when a house is planned. He gets something called "a den" or "a study" and that is about all.

Successful Twins

To the list of twins who have become successful and celebrated must be added Prof. Auguste Piccard, who has a twin brother named Jean. Our check reveals many twins have made their mark in the world. So, if you are the parent of a young pair of twins, don't pay too much attention to the claim that twins seldom have great success. Would be an interesting situation if some day an identical twin became president of the United States. His brother probably would have to grow a beard to avoid confusion.

Skyscraper Models

Why do tall girls wear high heels? The reason is that high heels make a woman's legs look better. Yvonne Sanson, the highly glamorous Italian cinema star, who is 5 feet 8 in her nytons, adds five inches to her height with high heels. That makes her 6 feet 1. Yvonne, now, has never been married. She says her husband must be taller than she is. That is, taller, even when she is wearing her high heels. However, I suppose if Yvonne fell for a handsome fellow of 5 feet 11, she might consider wearing three-inch heels.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

MAN MUST GOVERN HIMSELF

The religion of Israel was a mass religion, always emphasizing God's choice and call to the nation as a whole.

But this emphasis did not in any way minimize the importance of the individual and the soundness of his character and conduct.

This has a distinct bearing upon our modern democracy, which in a way is a mass affair. We think of democracy often, perhaps too often, as consisting in popular suffrage and the rule of the majority.

However, the vote of a majority never in itself made anything right. The true essence of democracy is self-rule.

When the rule of kings is discarded, it is the individual who becomes king, and if he abdicates democracy may become a very sorry affair.

Not our greatest weakness today the fact that so many citizens fail to exercise their prerogatives and privileges, to say nothing of their duty.

The Old Testament made plain one's place and duty as a member of society. There was the terrible example of Achan, who, in an hour of victory, stole a Babylonian garment and bars of silver. Profiteering Achan in their country's hour of danger have not been lacking in recent history.

National righteousness, to the Psalmist, meant justice. Conceptions of right and judgment were at the heart of all relationships. As the individual was responsible for his personal integrity, those who ruled, that is society, were responsible for rights, liberties and fair dealing.

It is the sense of right and judgment that we most need today. It is in the moral foundations that modern societies are weakest.

Too many issues are settled, not upon the basis of what is right and fair, but upon the power of individuals or groups to enforce their will. This would not be the case if we would recognize our duties to society.

Lumberjack Given Real Trouble By 600-lb. Bear

ROCKY MOUNTAIN HOUSE, Alta.—These are the bear facts of a meeting in the wilds between a lumber camp operator and a lumbering, but otherwise hungry, 600-pound black bear.

The short meeting between Del Ackers, owner of the camp, 20 miles west of here, and Mr. Bruin, resulted in flaming loss of the camp cook-house, possible serious injury to the operator, and death to the bear.

Recently Ackers and his men trapped through the brush to prepare their site for winter operations. The bear was apparently waiting for this visit, especially for the lard, honey and various other morsels.

Every morning for two weeks, boards nailed over windows were torn off and huge bear tracks were left on tables and the floor. These paws carried away a considerable amount of supplies.

In desperation one night Ackers shoved a heavy bench through the window, jamming it in place he felt sure nothing larger than a rabbit could squeeze through. Came the dawn and he found bench badly smashed but still blocking the window. Satisfied, he left the stove.

Then out of the adjoining store-room stroled the bear. Barred by the bench-fortified window, it ripped off the store-room door to gain entry.

As the bear headed for him Ackers heaved a can of coal oil at it. The cookhouse went up in flames, the well-fed bear waded off into the bush and Ackers had his clothing burned.

The story ended a week later when the animal returned—and was shot dead.
